General Hertzog, Premier of South Africa, said that the Dominions will always, with the deepest appreciation, remember Mr. Baldwin's services to the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Mr. M. J. Savage, Premier of New Zealand, declared that Mr. Baldwin has shown himself to be a great philosopher and a student of human life, particularly the ideals, standards, and traditions of his countrymen whether at home or overseas.—

SWATOW INCIDENT

Swatow, May 28.
Dr. Philip Tyau, Commissioner of Foreign Affairs in Kwangtung and Mr. Yoshitake, Japanese Vice-Consul in Canton arrived here by air this morning to investigate the so-called Swatow incident.

Press reports of the tension caused by this affair appear to have been exaggerated.

Swatow at present is quiet and the Chinese believe that the Japanese are attaching undue importance to a trivial matter.—

ELUSIVE FAKIR OF IPI

Simla, May 28.

SHANGHAI STREET FIRE

Tin goods and other articles to a total value of $5,000 were reported to have been damaged in a fire at 3 a.m. yesterday in the cockpit of the Yick Wah confectionery at 594 Shanghai Street.

The occupants apparently wasted time in trying to extinguish the fire themselves before calling for assistance. The fire is believed to have been caused by a lighted cigarette end.

Mr. Stanley Baldwin Leaves In Blaze Of Popular Esteem

London, May 28.

"Mr. Stanley Baldwin is leaving office in a blaze of popular esteem after a series of personal triumphs," says the "Times."

"His defects as Prime Minister were obvious," continues the journal. "He is perhaps too typical an Englishman to take a sustained interest in foreign affairs and made no obvious contribution towards a European settlement which was one of the main objectives of his last term of office."

"EVEN IN DOMESTIC CONTROVERSIES HIS ACTIONS, LIKE HIS SPEECHES, OFTEN APPEARED TO BE FORCED BY EVENTS OF DECISIVE PERSONAL INTERVENTION OFTEN FOLLOWED BY A LONG PERIOD OF COMPLETE SELF-EFFACEMENT."

"THERE MAY BE TIGHTER AND TIDIER METHODS UNDER THE NEW REGIME, BUT THEY WILL NOT QUITE COMPENSATE US FOR OTHER QUALITIES WHICH ENABLED MR. BALDWIN TO RISE TO HEIGHTS OF NATIONAL LEADERSHIP ATTAINED BY NONE OF HIS COLLEAGUES AND VERY FEW OF HIS PREDECESSORS," THE "TIMES" CONCLUDES.—REUTER.

Resignation Honours

London, May 28.

The King has conferred an Earl-dom on Mr. Stanley Baldwin, the retiring Premier.

Mrs. Baldwin has been appointed a Dame Grand Cross of the British Empire.

A Viscountcy has been conferred on Mr. Walter Runciman, who retires from the post of President of the Board of Trade.

A Viscountcy has been conferred on Sir J. C. C. Davidson, Conservative Member for Hemel Hempstead, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster and former Private Secretary to Mr. Stanley Baldwin.

Sir Geoffrey Storer Fry, Private Secretary to Mr. Stanley Baldwin, has been created a Knight Commander of the Bath.

Minor decorations have been conferred on Mr. Baldwin's Secretarial Staff.—Reuter

NATIONAL DAY OF PORTUGAL

Macao En Fete For Occasion

Macao was "en fete" yesterday, in celebration of the Anniversary of the National Revolution, and of the establishment of the present Government, and a wonderful programme of festivities was arranged for the occasion, which commenced with a musical "Reveille" at 5.30 a.m.

At 10 a.m. there was a review of troops, and at noon a reception was held at Government House. At three o'clock in the afternoon an exhibition of the paintings by the Portuguese artist, Fausto Sampaio, was opened by H.E. the Governor, and later tablets were unveiled, bearing the names of Marshal Gomes da Costa, General Ireno Ferraz, and Commandant Joao Belo. Later in the afternoon food was distributed to the poor at the Chinese Hospital, and at other charitable homes.

The town was gaily decorated, and the illuminations flashed up at 8 p.m., continuing until midnight.

A brilliant Reception and Ball was held at Government House at 10 p.m., which was attended by a great number of well-known people.

HEALTH RETURNS

One case of small-pox, one of diphtheria, one of enteric fever, and one of dysentery were reported to the Health Authorities for the 24 hours ended on Thursday.

BODIKER WINS FROM HUNG

K.C.C. Tennis Tourney

G. Bodiker, the former Canton tennis champion, with a handicap of 30, beat W. C. Hung (own 40) by scores of 6-3, 6-4. In the second round of the Men's Handicap Singles "A" at the Kowloon Cricket Club last evening.

The match did not commence until 5.40 p.m., this being due to the fact that a sharp shower of rain fell about 5 o'clock, and some half-an-hour was wasted in order to let the court dry sufficiently to permit of play.

Empire Press Union Debate

London, May 28.

The Empire Press Union dealt with the question of intrusion of private grief and the effect on the whole profession by the delinquencies of a few.

The conference passed a resolution instructing the Council to take any steps necessary to raise the status of journalists of the Empire.—
Reuter

TO-DAY'S RACES Final Selections By Last Quarter on page 19.

Bodiker played a very good game, being particularly strong on the forehand and his overhead shots. Hung, who also got in several nicely placed shots, was obviously ill at ease on the slippery court and as a result let some shots go which he might have saved on a dry court.

The match attracted a large number of spectators as it was generally expected to result in a very closely contested encounter. Hung, it will be remembered, partnered E. C. Fincher in the final of the Colony Doubles championship when they lost to the Rijnjaan cousins.

The outspoken debate largely dealt with the question of intrusion of private grief and the effect on the whole profession by the delinquencies of a few.

IRON INDUSTRY CONTROL

Study Of Bill Completed

The Tetsuko Kyogikai, a central organ of iron and steel manufacturers, has now completed an exhaustive study of the Iron Industry Control Bill drafted by the Department of Commerce and Industry. It will hold a general meeting within a few days in order to prepare a memorial to be submitted to the Government.

Executives of the Kyogikai are not necessarily opposed to the proposed adoption of a licensing system. They are ready to support the plan if the Government will modify it properly. First of all, they intend to request the Government to relax Article 20 and other clauses relative to Government supervision of the industry, as they are at present so strict that traders find it difficult to do business. They also express the hope that the Government will devise measures for the encouragement of foundries working on low content ores.

The Tokyo Chamber of Commerce and Industry is still opposed to the plan drafted by the Department of Commerce and Industry. With a view to recommending a substitute plan, it is now busy conducting investigations. On May 4th the Industrial Committee invited Mr. Shiraiishi, president of the Japan Steel Pipe Company, and received a detailed explanation of the position of the steel industry and the views generally entertained by all the parties directly interested.

Executives of steel works in the Kwanto district have decided to reduce their purchase price of scrap iron by ¥3 to ¥97 per ton.

EXTRADITION CASE

Customs Launch Tragedy Recalled

Chung Chi-cheung, formerly cabin boy on board the Chinese Customs Maritime launch, Cheong Keng, whose extradition is being sought by the Chinese Authorities for the alleged murder of Captain Campbell and the attempted murder of Chief Officer Chu Cheong-keoh in Chinese waters on January 11 last, made his second appearance before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon when the proceedings were continued.

The first witness called yesterday was the Chief Officer of the Cheong Keng, Chu Cheong-keoh, who stated that on January 11, he took over the duties at the bridge from the Captain at 7 a.m. The launch was then heading for Hong Kong via Fu-Ta-Mun Pass. Fugitive brought him his tea at the bridge but he did not notice anything wrong with the latter at the time.

HEARD TWO SHOTS

Witness then heard two shots but he thought that one of the men had accidentally let one of the guns go off. Witness then sent Lam Hon-kwan down to see what had happened and just about then he saw the fugitive coming up the bridge. The latter suddenly held up his right hand and fired two shots at him (witness) in quick succession. Witness was hit and fell to the ground, and he said that the only reason he could give for the fugitive shooting both the captain and himself is that sometime in October they were not satisfied with the food and so he (witness) made a contract with the Asia Compradore to supply foodstuffs, and thus the fugitive had the "suppliers' job taken away from him.

TOO LATE TO BE SORRY

Fugitive then went into the witness box and made a statement to the effect that he had lost his head and did not know what he was doing. He regained his senses the day after his arrival at the hospital. When he was told by his family as to what had happened, from the reports they had read in the newspapers, he tried to think what made him do such a tragic thing and could not find any reason at all, and was very sorry indeed that such a tragedy had happened, though it was now too late to be sorry.

He asked the Court to go through the case thoroughly and do everything they could, possibly do for him and that he would be very grateful.

In order to enable fugitive to prove that he is a British subject the case was remanded until June 10, 2.30 p.m.

MAGISTRATE TAKES ADVANTAGE OF SPECIAL ORDINANCE

Motorist Found Guilty But Discharged

F. T. Moran of the R.N.A. Depot, pleaded not guilty to a summons for driving a private car at the excessive speed of about 28 miles per hour in the Lai Chi Kok controlled area on May 1, when he appeared before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday.

Traffic Acting Sub-Inspector Brittain conducted the prosecution. Sergt. Appleton, who was on traffic patrol duty along Castle Peak Road, on the day in question, in the witness box said that he was coming towards Kowloon at about 20 m.p.h. and while passing through Kwai Chung Village, near a small bridge, a private car, driven by defendant, overtook him and proceeded at a fairly high speed.

Witness said he followed the car and found that it was travelling at about 30 m.p.h. Sergt. Appleton continued that at the controlled area, just before reaching the Lai Chi Kok Prison, the speed registered by his speedometer was about 28 m.p.h. and this was maintained all the way except that when taking the bends it dropped to between 22 and 23 m.p.h.

Witness overtook and stopped the car, and when asked if he knew at what speed he was travelling, defendant said it was about 18 m.p.h. Witness then informed defendant that this was not the case. The speed was greater and that a summons would be applied for and served against him.

"A DAMNED NUISANCE"

Witness said that defendant told him that "You fellows are damned nuisance on the road, and would be better employed to catch some other drivers who cut corners."

Sergt. Appleton added that the part of the road where defendant overtook him was fairly narrow. It was further stated that defendant claimed he had been driving motor vehicles for a longer period than Sergt. Appleton.

Mr. F. Whitehead, one of the four passengers in defendant's car, a Morris Minor, stated that the car could not have been going at more than 20 m.p.h. and added that he did not hear any bad language used against Sergt. Appleton.

DEFENDANT'S STORY

F. T. Moran, in the witness box, said that he had first started driving in June 1917, and that there had never been any complaints made against him since.

He further stated that he had soured the horn and complainant would not move away from the middle of the road to let him pass. "I say on an oath and in all seriousness that the reason for the prosecution was my passing a police officer and my child smiling at him."

The officer for the prosecution laughed at this suggestion and witness said:—

"You Worship, I object the officer laughing in Court."

Defendant denied that he had used bad language against the officer and added that he only said, "I thought you would be better employed to watch the corner cutters."

DEFENDANT'S GOOD RECORD

After hearing the evidence his Worship remarked that it was only guess work on defendant's part regarding the speed. It was exceedingly difficult to judge the speed within 5 m.p.h., but in the case of the prosecution there was a speedometer and in this way the speed was clearly indicated.

He found that defendant was guilty of the charge, but in view of defendant's good record, his Worship said he would apply a special Ordinance which enabled him to discharge the summons.

CRIMINAL SESSIONS

Pang Yik-pui, aged 22, unemployed, appeared before the Police Judge, Mr. Justice R. E. Lindsell, at the Criminal Sessions yesterday, charged with importing and possessing counterfeit coins. The prosecution was conducted by Mr. M. J. Abbott, Assistant Crown Solicitor, assisted by Det-Sgt. A. Kinnear.

The jury, empanelled for the (foreman), S. M. Isack, Lo Shui case were Messrs. J. H. Howard Kees, F.O. Reed, Wong Ching, F.H. Mody, and A.W.H. Edie.

Accused attempted to smuggle a thousand counterfeit coins into the Colony on April 3, but was stopped and searched by Ho Wan, a Chinese Revenue Officer, who was on duty, when he (accused) was alighting from a Canton express. In accused's rattan basket were found six sticks of sugar cane, four of them were suspiciously heavy.

At the Water Police Station, these four sticks were examined and were found to have been hollowed out. When the plugs were

"CRUISE WITH CRUZ"

Mr. Francisco de la Cruz, a former well-known resident of Hong Kong, who is now one of the leading tourist agents in Manila, passed through Hong Kong yesterday by the Dollar Liner "President Coolidge" with a party of 127 Filipino tourists, returning to Manila from Japan.

This will terminate Mr. Cruz's annual oriental cruise, which is a supplementary cruise to his annual around-the-world cruise.

In addition to the party passing through on board the "President Coolidge," there is another "Cruz" cruise passing through Hong Kong on the "President Jackson" today.

removd. 500 counterfeit five-cent and 457 ten-cent pieces of the old issue were discovered.

After evidence was heard the jury returned a verdict of guilty to both charges, and accused was sentenced to "two years" hard labour.

RELIGION: PERSONAL AND IMPERSONAL

XV: Independency In England

(BY SCRUTATOR)

The Great Plague and the Fire of London which followed it gave the Nonconformist ministers an opportunity which they were not slow to seize. When the clergy fled from the tortured city the former stayed on and ministered to the people's needs. These events were followed by the Dutch War which made the King and his government unpopular, and their unpopularity greatly assisted the Nonconformist position, for malcontents of all colours flocked to join their organised resistance to the government.

The Toleration Act was passed therefore in 1689. This Act declared that the worshiping of God under other forms than those established by law, was no longer a punishable offence, but it insisted that all Nonconformist ministers must be licensed by Bishops of the established Church.

PERSONAL LIBERTY

The struggle for personal liberty in religion now took a new turn. It became more a struggle for freedom to organise the Church, rather than for the establishment of religious truth. From this time onward Congregationalism became associated in the minds of the uninformed for its claims for the right of self-government, rather than for its more fundamental insistence on spiritual freedom and purity. The effect indeed, of toleration, was to lessen the religious seriousness of Congregationalists, and their attitude kept its political colouring to the exclusion of its religious significance. The old conception of the Church, as a spiritual body gave way before its new conception as a democratic institution. Released from the arduous which their predecessors had endured they were less able to combat Queen Anne's high church tendencies and could not prevent the passing of the Conformity Bill in 1711.

THE SCHISM

The direct result of the passing of this bill was the disqualification of all Nonconformists from holding civil offices; this they easily put up with, but worse was still in store for them in the Schism Act which was passed in 1714 and was designed to prevent the higher education of Nonconformist youths. But the Schism Act never became law because on the day that it came out Queen Anne died and the Act was never enforced.

Nonconformists had always been loyal to the House of Hanover, and the high church party saw in them their greatest obstacle to the election of a Roman Catholic monarch. To attain their end the Nonconformists bound themselves closer together. In 1727 the "General Body of Dissenting Ministers of the Three Denominations residing in and about the cities of London and Westminster" was formed to be followed five years later by the formation of the Dissenting Deputies whose special care was the guardianship of the affairs of all Dissenters. This forced inversion of their interests caused the old spaciousness of Puritanism to decay and over-emphasised the Separatist aspect of their witness. The Churches declined spiritually when their emphasis changed from personal religion and religious freedom, and their spirit was further weakened by their miserable acceptance of the "regium donum," the king's gift, as well as by internal theological controversy. (Salter's Hall 1719).

Congregationalism continued thus until almost the middle of the eighteenth century when under the direct influence of the preaching of the Wesleys and of Whitefield there came a revival of spiritual enthusiasm among them.

CATHOLIC NEWS AND NOTES

The Pope's Eightieth Birthday

On Monday next, May 31, His Holiness the Pope will celebrate his eightieth birthday. A few months ago it seemed very unlikely that he would live to celebrate the occasion, but now he has even been able to resume a certain amount of his former activity, and on his birthday he will inaugurate the reconstituted Pontifical Academy of Sciences.

It is not intended that this new Academy of Sciences is to be merely an honorary body, and considerable interest attaches to the meetings that will immediately follow on its inauguration, for it is rarely that so distinguished a body of international scientists has met to debate as to what line of research is most worthy of pursuit. The Academy is composed of seventy members of fifteen nationalities, all internationally famous, eleven of them being recipients of the Nobel Prize. Many of them are non-Catholics. There are three English members, Dr. Edmund Whittaker, F.R.S., Lord Rutherford and Sir Charles Sherrington.

MASTER OF THE ROLLS
One of the best known Catholic members of the Judiciary in England, Sir Wilfrid Greene, has figured a good deal in the papers recently, for his appointment to the office of Master of the Rolls at the age of fifty-four makes him the youngest holder of the office in English history. He has had a

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON SERMON

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, "SCIENTIST"

Subject: Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Alms Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced.

The Subject of the Lesson in all churches of Christ, Scientist, tomorrow, May 30, will be: "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Alms Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced."

The Golden Text will be: "I am with thee to save thee and to deliver thee, saith the Lord. And I will deliver thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeem thee out of the hand of the terrible" (Jeremiah 15:20, 21).

Among others the following citations from the Bible will be read: "And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, Speak unto all the congregation of the children of Israel, and say unto them, Ye shall be holy: for I the Lord your God am holy. Regard not them that have familiar spirits, neither seek after wizards, to be defiled by them: I am the Lord your God. Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might. Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places. Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand." (Eph. 6:10-12).

The Lesson Sermon will also include the following passages from the Christian Science Text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When the Science of Mind is understood, spiritualism will be found mainly erroneous, having no scientific basis, nor origin, no proof nor power outside of human testimony. It is the offspring of the physical senses. There is no sensuality in Spirit. The basis and structure of spiritualism are alike material and physical. Its spirits are so many corporealities, limited and finite in character and quality. Spiritualism with its material accompaniments would destroy the supremacy of Spirit. If Spirit pervades all space, it needs not material method for the transmission of messages. Spirit needs no wires nor electricity in order to be omnipresent. Spirit is not materially tangible. How then can it communicate with man through electric material effects? How can the majesty and omnipotence of Spirit be lost? God is not in the medley where matter cares for matter, where spiritism makes many gods, and 'hypnotism' and electricity are claimed to be the agents of God's government." (Page 71, 72).

Artist's "It Does Not Refer To The Duke"

Mr. Oswald Moser, the author and artist, of Rye, Sussex, was informed by the Royal Academy authorities that his picture, "The Lord of Creation," which had been accepted and hung, was being withdrawn. In their letter, the President and Council state: "The picture appears certainly to allude to an affair which is a matter of especially painful regret to the public."

Mr. Moser, who is aged 63 and one of whose Biblical paintings is in Blagdon, Somerset, Church, said:

"The authorities obviously think the picture refers in some way to the Duke of Windsor, but it does nothing of the sort. It is simply a symbolical study of a young man, painted two years ago. I had no idea of representing any living person. A crown on the man's head is purely symbolical of man's supposed superiority over bird and beast. I have been exhibiting at the Academy since 1904, and have never experienced an incident like this before."

A representative of the Council of the Royal Academy said:

"Though the portraiture was not very strong we felt that the picture would cause some disturbance and come to the ears of the Royal Family. It is our policy never to exhibit a picture which might be construed as a reflection on any member of the Royal Family."

CAIN AND MABEL

"Cain and Mabel," a spectacular Cosmopolitan musical production released by Warner Bros., and starring two of the screen's most brilliant celebrities, Marion Davies and Clark Gable, opens at the King's Theatre to-day.

The picture is said to be filled with catchy musical airs and gigantic specialty numbers in which one hundred and sixty beautiful chorus girls take part in addition to its hilarious comedy, its glowing romance and many thrills.

The most pretentious of the production numbers, called "Thousand Love Songs," is heralded as one unsurpassed in magnitude and grandeur.

SONS OF GUNS

"Sons O' Guns" Joe E. Brown's latest comedy frolic, based on the hilarious Broadway musical hit will be the attraction at the Oriental Theatre to-morrow, Monday and Tuesday.

The story is a rollicking comedy romance dealing with the humorous side of doughboy life in France during the world war. The picture is said to be most colourful and picturesque, and lavish in production values, staged with more elaborateness than any previous Joe E. Brown comedy.

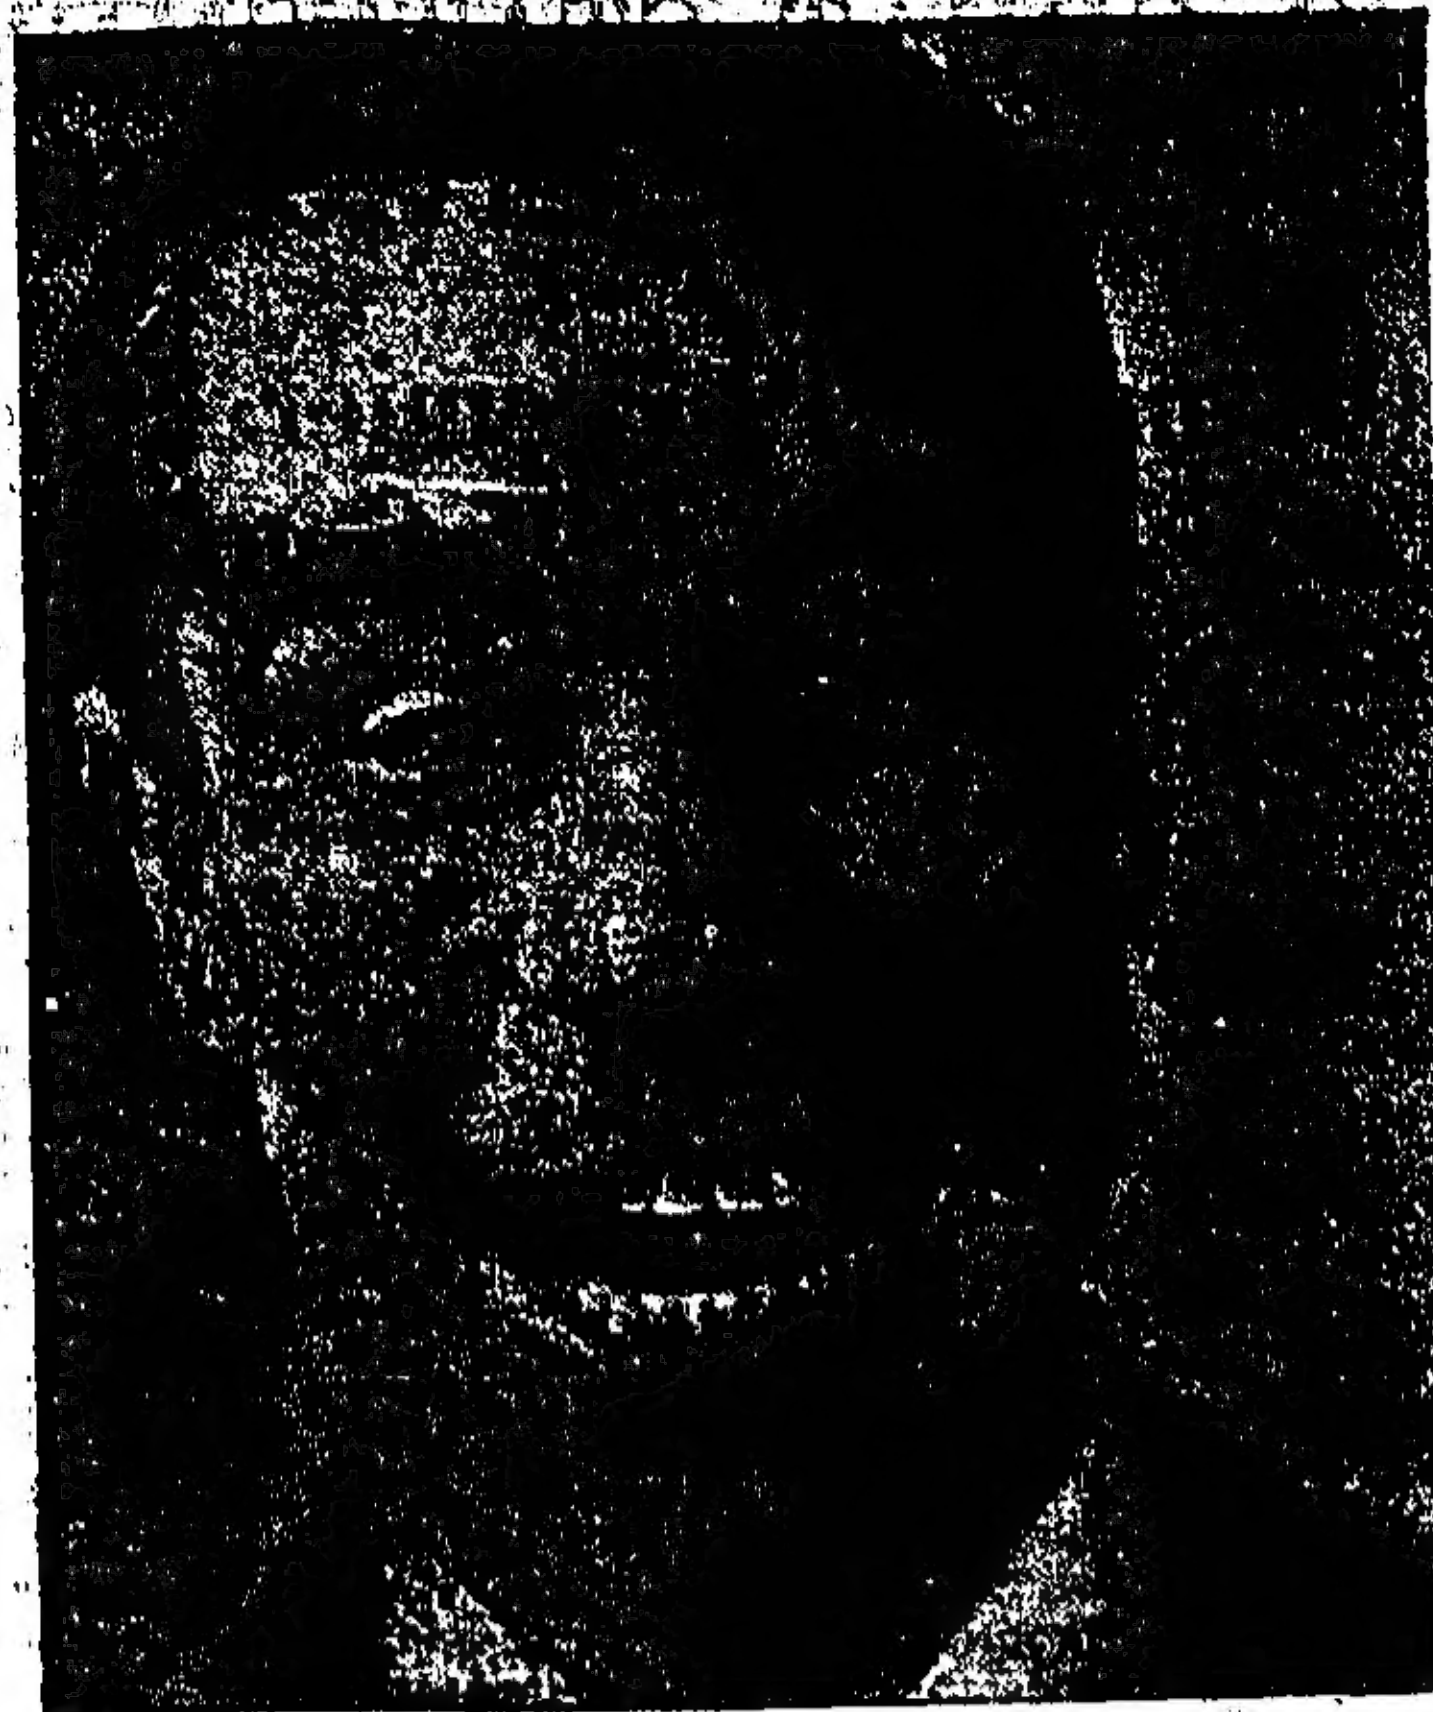

Internes Can't Take Money

Barbara Stanwyck plays the part of a girl who gives her love to a man she is unable to understand in "Internes Can't Take Money," a drama of devotion to duty and love which opens to-day at the Queen's Theatre. Joel McCrea plays the part of a young doctor, whom Miss Stanwyck loves.

INTERNES CAN'T TAKE MONEY

A fine cast of players headed by Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea, an excellent story well told and played, and expert direction make "Internes Can't Take Money," the gripping drama which opens at the Queen's Theatre to-day, top-grade entertainment.

Miss Stanwyck and McCrea, who are rapidly becoming America's favourite screen lovers, are not only good to look at, but a pair of excellent actors who give life and vigour to a fine story.

Right the first time—it's Joe E. Brown, starring in a song show that's even funnier, than "Bright Lights." It's "Sons of Guns," the merry martial musical Warner Brothers have adapted from the famous Broadway stage success. It comes to the Oriental Theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

"IDEAS ARE NOT COPYRIGHT"

JUDGMENT IN FILM DISPUTE

The copyright action concerning the film "Catherine the Great," which had been before Mr. Justice Crossman in the Chancery Division for 13 days, ended recently with judgment for the defendants.

Mr. Trevor Watson, K.C. (for plaintiffs), contended that the length of the action was due to defendants' conduct of the case and Mr. Justice Crossman ordered that the plaintiffs should pay two-thirds of the defendants' costs.

Damages had been claimed against London Film Productions, which made the film, the allegation being that the picture, infringing the play "La Petite Catherine," written by M. Alfred Pozanski (or Savori) in 1930.

The plaintiffs were Madame D. S. H. Pozanski (or Savori) the author's widow, Quai de Passy, Paris; and Mr. Frank Vernon and Mrs. Virginia Vernon, Grosvenor-square, W., who own the exclusive English rights of the play, which they adapted for presentation in London in 1931.

The defence was a denial of infringement.

In the course of his judgment, Mr. Justice Crossman referred to expert evidence which had been called, including that of Sir Seymour Hicks, in regard to the alleged similarities. His Lordship said:

"I am of opinion that this evidence, so far as it deals with the alleged plagiarism, is really irrelevant. I have come to the conclusion that the similarities are not such as to render the defendants' film a reproduction of a substantial part of the plaintiffs' play within the meaning of the Copyright Act, 1911."

If there were similarities between the play and the film, added his Lordship, they were mainly in ideas, which were not the subject of copyright. The treatment and development of the ideas was quite different.

Referring to the evidence of Mr. Biro and Mr. Wimperis (the writers of "Catherine the Great") and Mr. Alexander Korda (the producer), Mr. Justice Crossman said that he was satisfied they were witnesses of truth. Neither Mr. Biro nor Mr. Wimperis had read Mr. Savori's play. Mr. Korda had seen it, but he did not consciously suggest anything for the film taken from the play.

The case then terminated as stated above.

TOP OF THE TOWN

Wealthy Diana Borden (Doris Nolan), owner of Radio Centre to-morrow, has very futuristic ideas of the night club business. Ahead of her time and against her family's wishes, she persuades "Ted Lane," band leader played by George Murphy, to give her a job in his floor show. The family want him to fire her or they'll fire him, but if he does fire her, he also seals his own pink envelope. As it becomes evident that the girl is romantically attached to the boy, he pleads with her not to quit the show. His reward is assignment to the job of musical director of the new Moonbeam Room. But the girl interferes again. "Top of the Town" opens at the Alhambra Theatre to-day.

Evil Propaganda Of Some Newspapers

Mr. R. W. Bingham, the American Ambassador, who is a newspaper proprietor, speaking at a luncheon of the Incorporated Society of British Advertisers said that newspapers were often propagandists of evil.

"When you read here of a sensational crime," he said, "I hope all of you may pause for a moment and think of the hundreds of millions of quiet, decent, orderly, peace-loving people whom that does not represent."

"That disposition on the part of newspapers to play up to what is sensational instead of sound and usual, and what is remarkable and extraordinary instead of what is the habit of the people, is one of the things that tends to mislead the American public about Great Britain and the British public about the United States."

TWO GREAT STATESMEN LEAVE POLITICS

Retirement Of Premier And Lord President Of Council

London, May 27.

To-day's events include a number of incidents showing an atmosphere of sincere, if regretful goodwill, in which two statesmen most closely associated with the great experiment of a National Government, inaugurated in 1931, are retiring from active part in the political life of the country.

Prolonged cheers from all parts of the House greeted Mr. Stanley Baldwin when he rose in Commons this afternoon to make what was taken to be his last answer as Prime Minister. A member in a supplementary question asked if he would consider the propriety of a certain future procedure and Mr. Baldwin replied, "I do not consider it would be an act of propriety on my part to enter into the question of what this House might do next week."

At the conclusion of this morning's meeting of the Imperial Conference, at which Mr. Baldwin presided, a Dominion Prime Minister and Sir Zafrullah Khan, on behalf of the Indian delegation, expressed their great regret that this would be the last occasion on which he would preside over the Imperial Conference. References were made to the great part he had played in the Imperial Conferences of 1923 and 1926 and the speakers expressed to him good wishes for his future, on behalf of all the delegates at the Conference.

Mr. Baldwin thanked them and expressed his implicit faith in the future of the Empire and his confidence in the success of the present conference.

MR. MACDONALD

References were also made to the retirement of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald and the services which he had rendered as chairman of the Imperial Conference of 1930.

Mr. MacDonald had an audience with the King at Buckingham Palace to-day on the eve of his resignation as Lord President of the Council and the newspapers here recall that Mr. MacDonald had headed two Labour administrations and the first National Government.

It is reported that the King expressed his desire to recognise the services which he had rendered to the State in the course of a long number of years and asked whether he would accept a high hereditary honour. It is understood that Mr. MacDonald, while fully appreciative of the kindness and thoughtfulness of His Majesty, asked the King to permit him to decline and that permission was given him to do so.

DEFENCE OF THE EMPIRE

Mr. Churchill On Value Of Sea Power

Mr. Churchill, in the third of the series of broadcasts talks on "Responsibilities of Empire," given recently in the National programme, said that it must not be supposed that Britain or any part of the British Empire desired war.

"On the contrary," he continued, "we have nothing to gain and more to lose from war than any other human organization ever formed. Never will the power of the British Empire be used in any quarrel or for any purpose not permitted or indeed enjoined by the Covenant of the League of Nations. This is the foundation of our policy, and the rule which governs all our actions. We look forward confidently to the day when the authority of all nations meeting at Geneva will be respected by all States and Governments. We mean to do our part to bring about that supreme result."

In these times the forward march of the liberated peoples towards a fuller and more fair way of life for all could not be unprotected. It must be armed. "The freedom, the rights, the tolerance, the decency so slowly and painfully gathered by our forebears must not lack vigilance and instructed defenders in whose hearts there burn the fires of yore and in whose hands are the necessary instruments of force. The days of sea power are by no means ended. On the contrary, it may well be that the development of aircraft used in conjunction with ships will give such accurate information to the stronger fleet as will make its superiority even more decisive. Especially is this true where solitary raiding cruisers are to be found preying upon the ocean trade routes by which the Empire is joined together and by which the Mother Country must be fed."

SINGAPORE BASE

"The development of naval bases to enable the British squadrons and fleets to move freely from point to point and afford protection in distant seas is no less important than the maintenance of the Navy itself. The great fortified harbour which we have been so long making and arming, at Singapore menaces no country. It is in no way menaces our old friend and former good ally, Japan. It is in fact as far from Japan as Southampton is from New York. On the other hand, it will serve as a vital stepping-stone to enable the Mother Country to keep her contact with Australia and New Zealand, and to come to their aid if ever they were in peril."

"When we remember all that the Anzacs did for us, we feel it a sacred responsibility of Empire not to allow ourselves to be severed from the land of their birth and to share whatever may befall their fortune and their fate. In the same way the naval base at Capetown, which the Union Government of South Africa is actively strengthening, enables the British Fleet to preserve the means of entering the Indian Ocean, in addition to the main route we shall keep open through the Mediterranean. Thus there is no reason, if all the necessary measures are taken, to doubt the capacity of the British Navy to defend the communications which unite the Empire."

Mr. Churchill said that in all the coalitions or alliances or Leagues of Nations we had led in different centuries against tyranny or military overlordship in Europe, we had always hitherto succeeded because our cause was inseparable from the cause of freedom and progress.

"Wherever we have strayed from this path we have suffered," he added. "Not with our own strength or for our own sake alone shall we be able to guard our treasure, or give forth our message. The British Empire marches and can only march with the larger hopes of mankind."

FRENCH MAYOR DEPOSED

Paris, May 27.

The anti-Communist leader M. Doriot, who has been removed from his office as Mayor of St. Denis by the Minister of Interior, Dornoy, has now also resigned as members of the Municipal Council, thereby making municipal elections necessary. M. Doriot will immediately start an election campaign. He protested against his removal as mayor of St. Denis, which is claimed by right-wing circles to have been prompted by purely political reasons.

MAY DAY

Successful Speech By Young Girl

Jill Harris, an attractive lass aged twelve years made a remarkably successful speech at Baradine, New South Wales on May Day. Mr. Vincent, N.S.W. Minister for Mines and Forests, had laid the foundation stone for a forestry administration building, the first step in a vast reforestation plan.

Jill who had been deputed to move the vote of thanks to Mr. Vincent said:

"You have started something which is really for the children; that is why we thank you," she said.

"If grown-up people were selfish and used up all the good things which God has given us, and left the children in debt, it would not be a very nice world for us to live in."

"But you and the grown-ups of Baradine and Forestry Commission are doing a good deed on May Day, which is the children's day, and we thank you very much."

GERMAN OPINION ON DUTCH ELECTIONS

Berlin, May 27.

The German Press considers the result of the election in Holland as a personal success for Premier Colijn.

The Dutch people remained loyal, says the Angriff to its most characteristic feature, that is to cling tenaciously to tradition.

The "Berliner Tageblatt" calls the election result a vote for confidence for Colijn who for four years successfully directed the affairs of the Netherlands. The paper says that Mussert's National Socialist Movement, being represented for the first time in Parliament, did not quite achieve what its followers had hoped. The Movement has suffered heavy losses compared with the provincial elections.

most remarkable career, for he achieved marvelous success at the University, at the bar and in the army when he interrupted his legal career during the war. At Oxford his success and that of Fr. Martindale S.J., the well-known writer, are often compared, for both of them won almost every classical prize of first rank. Fr. Martindale preceded Sir Wilfrid Greene by a few years. Both won the Hertford and the Craven Scholarships, as well as the Chancellor's Latin Verse prize. Fr. Martindale also won the Galsford Greek Verse prize, while the future judge won the Vinerian Law scholarship. Mr. Ronald Knox, a brilliant writer of satire, and brother of the Editor of "Punch" was also a winner of the Hertford and Craven scholarships, and of the Ireland Scholarship as well.

During the war "Sir Wilfrid Greene won the Military Cross, the Order of the Crown of Italy, and the French Croix de Guerre. He was a prominent member of the Society of Our Lady of Good Counsel, which is organized to provide free legal help for the poor.

THE SYRIAN JACOBITES

A few days ago mention was made in the press of an English Archbishop of the "Syrian Jacobites, a division of the Eastern Orthodox Catholic Church," who had difficulty with the passport authorities when he wanted to visit some churches in the Gold Coast. Many people, puzzled by the unusual name of the Church, wondered if it is a branch of the Roman Catholic Church. It is not. The terminology is, in fact, not correct, for there is a recognized agreement between the Orthodox and the Catholic Churches that, to avoid confusion, one will not use the name of the other. It is sometimes thought too, by those who connect "Jacobite" with the Stuart claimants, that the name must have some reference to one of the two Apostles who were called James. This too is incorrect, for the name comes from James-el-Baradai who organized a special unit of the Monophysites, members of a religion who believed in Jesus Christ but did not believe what He had ever real human nature. The general name of the "Orthodox" Church is given to a group of churches who separated from the Roman authority in the eleventh and the fifteenth centuries. The founder of the Jacobites lived in the sixth century.

"THE BRAVEST PRIEST IN THE WAR"

The man to whom this title was given died a short time ago. He was Canon Delaere, the cure of St. Pierre in the famous Belgian town of Ypres when the town was smashed to pieces by shell-fire in the first months of the World War.

THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY TALK

Intending it only as a hors d'oeuvre before public study of the book "Theosophy Explained," Mr. John S. Greenberg gave a short talk on "Modern Instances of Re-incarnation," last Thursday at the local Theosophical Society. The subject matter evoked such interest that a discussion commenced which continued until nearly the end of the meeting.

Mr. Greenberg said:—

"The wide-spread interest and acceptance of Re-incarnation in the present day is astounding when one considers that only 60 years ago Western religious prejudices and Material Scientific skepticism made mention of its principles almost taboo. I make the assertion that there is wide-spread interest because the popular press now features the question quite prominently."

LITTLE BIT OF EVERYTHING

"The tremendous moral advantage in this teaching is its final influence for tolerance and good. One realizes that the stupidity on the part of some we contact is due only to youth of soul and greater intelligence as he evolves is vouchsafed. More important, however, those who are obviously superior to us, we do not attempt to deprecate and bring down to our level but we begin to admire them for the qualities which of necessity they must have taken lives to build. Thus the doctrine of Re-incarnation teaches the world to be a little more tolerant, a little more loving and a little more appreciative of all the (potentially) great human beings who compose it."

Cleveland, May 27.

The remains of Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Senior, greatest of the United States' financial figures, were laid to rest between the graves of his wife and his mother, here. The funeral was quiet and the ceremony simple.

Reuter.

He took charge of the 10,000 derelict citizens who refused to leave the City. They lived mostly in cellars, and Cannon Delaere had to cope with starvation, epidemics and armed looters and he overcame them all. Though he was to be found in every spot where there was danger, and his curate was killed beside him and his own soutane torn with bullets, he was never injured. His humour was as great as his heroism, and he saved the sanity as well as the lives of many. He was the last to leave the city when it was evacuated in 1915, but he often returned. After one of these visits he brought back to the Freemasons' their processional flag, which he had seen in a burning house.

JOINT PHOTOGRAPHIC EXHIBITION

The Chinese Y.M.C.A. Photo Club and the Penguin Photo Club of Shanghai combined to present a very fine display of beautiful pictures at No. 144 Des Voeux Road yesterday. It is an exhibition which no amateur photographer could afford to miss, and it is a compliment that these well-known Shanghai Clubs thought it worth while to allow Hong Kong to see their photos.

All the photos were good, but some were exceptionally so and we mention just a few outstanding ones.

By Fize Young, Clever studies of a newboy, of a young girl and her small water-buffalo, of flowers, and two animal studies of a lion and a cat.

By Tseu Hoi Yee—A charming study of a Chinese baby.

By Ting Sing Pau—a lovely river scene.

REAR-ADMIRAL SEDGWICK

Leaves Colony On Retirement

Rear-Admiral C. G. Sedgwick, R.N. (retired), accompanied by Mrs. Sedgwick, sailed for Hong via Canada yesterday aboard the C.P.S. liner Empress of Russia which departed from the Kowloon Wharf at noon. The retiring Commodore and his wife were accorded a rousing send-off, accompanied by farewell signals and the firing of crackers.

Rear-Admiral Sedgwick

Official ceremonies connected with the taking over of the office of Commodore by Capt. E. B. C. Dicken, O.B.E., D.S.C., commenced at 8 a.m. yesterday when the broad pendant of Commodore Dicken was hoisted in H.M.S. Adventure. At the same time, Commodore Dicken saluted the broad pendant of Rear-Admiral Sedgwick, the salute being fired by H.M.S. Adventure, H.M.S. Tamar returning the salute. At 10.30 a.m. Rear-Admiral and Mrs. Sedgwick, accompanied by Paymaster-Commander M. A. W. Sweny (Secretary) and Mrs. Sweny, bade farewell to a large assembly of officers of H.M.S. Tamar before leaving for the Empress liner.

At 10.40 a.m. the barge, aboard which was the departing Commodore and party, left the Tamar escorted by steamboats from the Tamar and the Naval Dockyard.

CHEERS AND CRACKERS

Three hearty cheers were given as the barge was leaving the gangway, and as the barge made her way out of the Dockyard basin crackers were fired from each end of the wall and after a few minutes, more crackers were discharged by the escorting Tamar and Dockyard steamboats, and this was continued when the barge neared the Kowloon Wharf.

At noon, the Empress of Russia sailed and as she steamed out of harbour and was passing the Naval Dockyard, the Signal Station hoisted a signal for "Goodbye; I wish you a pleasant voyage" which was repeated by H.M.S. Tamar.

As the Canadian Pacific liner steamed past Point D'Aiguier Signal Station, a similar signal was hoisted. The liner was escorted out of harbour by H.M.S. Thracian.

At sunset yesterday, the broad pendant of Commodore Dicken will be transferred to H.M.S. Tamar.

ANGELINA TOWED INTO HARBOUR

Tanker Undergoing Extensive Repairs

The s.s. Angelina, an oil tanker, which was refloated at 9.30 p.m. on May 23, after she had been aground for two months near Tai-hoku in North Formosa, was towed into harbour on Thursday night by the salvage tug Henry Keswick to the Cosmopolitan Dock, where she will undergo extensive repairs.

Captain Hart, Assistant Superintendent Engineer from the Singapore Office of the Asiatic Petroleum Company supervised the salvage work, assisted by Capt. Williams, master of the Henry Keswick, and Mr. F. Maher, Chief Diver of the Kowloon Docks.

The Angelina was built in 1931 in the Netherlands Dock in Amsterdam, and has a gross tonnage of 2,068.

As a result of the grounding, which occurred during a thick fog, the Angelina was badly damaged.

The salvage, it is stated, was a remarkable piece of work.

THE FATE OF LEPEERS

The account of the destruction by Chinese soldiers of more than fifty lepers recently, is a reminder of the inhuman treatment which, until recently, was the certain fate of all detected sufferers from that disease.

From its first appearance in Western Europe it was more dreaded than any other disease, and the fact that it was known to be contagious and that no cure had been found to succeed meant that segregation was the only policy which could be pursued. In the East—particularly in China (South China has sometimes been called the cradle of leprosy)—segregation of lepers has also been the rule, but the fear as well as the horror with which they were regarded, and also the feeling that so terrible a disease must be a form of divine punishment have been responsible for cruelties of which the massacre at Yeung-Kong is a modern example.

It is now known that leprosy is most contagious in its early stages, when it is hardly, if at all, detectable, and it is for this reason that segregation has never been able to check the spread of the disease. Moreover, lepers and their relations naturally tended to keep the malady hidden for as long as possible when discovery was certain to mean complete banishment from society.

As the doctors in China pointed out, senseless massacres such as the one now reported "do more than anything else to spread the disease by driving every leper into hiding." And it is particularly senseless now that it has been found possible to cure leprosy if it is taken in hand early enough. But the treatment is apt to be a lengthy one, and needs not only the trust of the sufferers but the co-operation of the public.

GUN FIRE AND GOLF!

First-Visit Impressions On The Rifle Range

(BY "CAM")

My first visit to the Rifle Range, I found interesting. In the shade afforded by the neat structure of the clubhouse, I watched barked competitors vie with each other on the ranges below. Their apparel was as diverse as it seemed possible to be. Some wore white shirts and grey flannels, others khaki coats and khaki shorts, while a blue shirt, white shorts and blue leggings bespoke a representative of H.M. Naval forces.

One thing most had in common. Nearly all were equipped with binoculars and wore elbow pads or protectors, while others wore their stockings over their knees for what protection was possible. Topcoats, felt and straw hats, shapeless but useful, were among the head gear worn.

And while rifle shots rang out—sometimes in quick succession resembling the rat-tat-tat of machine guns, or in single bursts well over to the right and in the "safety zone," caretakers of the Kowloon Golf Club greens went on with their work unperturbed, supervised by the "No. 1" under the shade of a large green and blue umbrella.

In spite of what portends with the increased popularity of shooting, greens are being attended and kept in splendid condition for puts galore to be sunk (or more than likely, missed) during week-ends.

AND HOW THEY FRIZZLED!

I find it very gratifying to record the success attained by members of the Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps, Hong Kong Police and the Dockyard Rifle Club at this meeting. 2/Lt. L. B. Holmes and Lt. F. P. Sequeira, both of the Volunteers, Sgt. F. E. Russell, and P. C. J. R. Wall, of the local police force, and Mr. C. Watson, of the Dockyard Rifle Club, gained medals, and in the case of Mr. Watson, owing to a regulation debarring one competitor from taking more than one silver or bronze medal, he had to forfeit one award. Such success as the above mentioned "shots" obtained in competition with men of the regulars, is noteworthy!

Lt. Sequeira confessed to me that he found conditions trying. He said he preferred a cooler day, as perspiration dripping into the eyes was hardly conducive to accurate aiming!

ON THE UP AND UP

The number of entrants far exceeded expectations, said an official of the club. Actually one hundred and forty-three competitors took part, whereas it had previously been anticipated that only some forty odd would participate. This in itself is ample evidence of the increased popularity of rifle shooting which has gained in the Colony, since the inception of the Club.

Concurrently with the increase of this sport, which must be viewed as unique when one considers the past failures of previous efforts in a similar direction, I have learned from a reliable source, that the local Army authorities are, to make use of the range on a scale never before attempted. It is expected that the range will be occupied and in full use by the regular Army throughout the week next year, in order to cope with the new Army regulations recently published, regarding courses to be fired. It is certain, therefore, that the range will not be available for the Club on Wednesdays next year, as at present, and it is expected that Sundays will be allocated to members of the H.K.M. Association, when an even more ambitious programme will be arranged.

This information which I pass on to my readers, sounds very much like the advance death knell for golfers on the mainland, who have found the sporting little course on the range, such ample diversion on week-ends.

LECTURES ON HOCKEY NEXT MONTH

The Hong Kong Hockey Association has arranged for a series of lectures on the subject of hockey and umpiring generally to be given at the Police Training School on Tuesdays, June 8, 15, 22 and 29, and July 6, 13, 20 and 27. The last six lectures will follow practice games at the School which will take place just before such lectures, at which those wishing to qualify will be invited to umpire under the supervision of qualified umpires. The match will then be the basis for the following lecture.

MALAYAN REVIEW

The Rubber Outlook

The speech which Mr. J. C. Innes, the retiring president, delivered at the annual meeting of the United Planting Association of Malaya should do something to counteract the persistent agitation against the rubber control scheme which has made itself evident in London. It is true that the agitation has died down considerably since the price fell from the dizzy eminence of 46 cents to its proper level at around 38, but the feeling of hostility is still there. "If, on account of a general rise in commodity prices, rubber should again soar in value, we shall certainly once again hear those fantastic stories of 'whole forests of rubber trees' being untapped and the restriction scheme being nothing less than extortion of money from the consumer. It is important that such propaganda should be counteracted and that every opportunity should be taken of pointing out that control was soundly framed and is of absolute necessity to the preservation of the industry."

Anti-Opium Society

In the presence of many well-known Chinese the Acting Chinese Consul General, Mr. See Tau Tsung, performed a unique ceremony at the Singapore Anti-Opium Society when he swore in the newly elected officers of the Society. Each of the officers had to take an oath not to smoke or to deal in opium in any way and to help in bringing about the suppression of opium and other narcotics.

The acting Chinese Consul-General in his speech said that China is now enforcing very strictly her opium suppression policy. Habitual smokers who do not get rid of their habit within a certain period given in a warning are to be arrested and shot.

He said that the work of the Society is rendered very difficult by the fact that opium smoking in this country is legalised. He fully realised and appreciated the good work that the Society was doing and he believed that the new committee, consisting of such prominent and public-spirited men, would make the work more successful. In conclusion he exhorted every Chinese to support the work of the Singapore Anti-Opium Society.

Newest Amusement Park

Over 1,200 invitations were sent out for the opening of the Happy World and a great majority of invited guests turned up when the doors of Singapore's latest amusement park were thrown open to the public.

Both inside the huge cabaret and the open space outside, numerous tables were laid out to accommodate the guests and it was a fortunate factor that the rain which threatened earlier in the afternoon kept off until towards the close of the tea-party which was given by the management.

The Happy World has been constructed at a cost of over a quarter million dollars. Among the numerous facilities which are afforded, is an excellent dance hall of circular design.

Tooth Brush Drill

Interesting items of information are contained in the report of the Hon. Mr. W. E. Pypys, the General Adviser, Johore. Under the heading of education, for example, we learn that special attention is paid to the health as well as the teaching of the children.

In Johore Bahru there is a school dental clinic, under a qualified European dental surgeon, and last year an assistant dental surgeon was appointed at Muar.

All pupils have dental inspection, states the report. Pupils in the lowest classes have complete dental treatment and others emergency treatment. Tooth brush drill is the rule, and both boys and girls show great improvement.

This is excellent reading, and it would be a good thing if other parts of the Far East, particularly the big cities, paid as much attention to care of the teeth as is done in Johore. To start young in looking after the teeth is one of the most important rules of health.

An Honour Richly Deserved

One of the most popular awards made is that of the conferment of the K.B.E. (honorary) on His Highness Tengku Ismail, C.M.G. Tengku Mahkota of Johore.

This is the first time that the heir to a Malayan Throne has been so honoured, knighthoods hitherto having been conferred only on the rulers themselves.

His Highness, who is acting as Regent in the absence of his father, who has gone to London to attend the Coronation, has acted as Regent on many previous occasions when the Sultan has been away from the State, with great acceptance and in an extremely capable manner, and his many friends and admirers throughout Malaya will rejoice in the honour which the King has bestowed on this exceedingly popular young heir to the Throne of our neighbouring State of Johore.

The happy relations between the Royal House of Johore and the Colony Government, are thus strengthened and Singapore people will be the first to congratulate His Highness on the gaining of an honour which is thoroughly well deserved.

Police Inspectors

An unsuccessful attempt was made some time ago to improve the salaries and prospects of police inspectors, states the "Times of Malaya." The reason then given for inaction no longer exists, and the present boom has increased the cost of living.

An Asiatic inspector starts on a salary of $100 and if he is fortunate enough to clear all the hurdles, such as efficiency bar, departmental action, etc., the minimum time it will take him to draw the maximum will be 20 years, the maximum salary being $300 a month.

There are only five prize appointments open in the Malay assistant commissioners grade, the salary being $300 rising to $510 by increments of $15. When an inspector reaches the maximum of $300 he will have to wait for a vacancy to get a prize appointment and by that time he may be due for retirement. There are only a few left in the European inspectors grade which is to be abolished when the present men are either promoted or due to leave on their next tour. When that occurs the time would be opportune to review the prospects of the Asiatic inspectors who are at present 56 in number.

Mine Surveys In Arrears

The "Times of Malaya" understands that approval has been given for the addition of two field geologists to the staff of the Geological Department, F. M. S., which will relieve the Director to a considerable extent, as he has been working practically single-handed for over a year. For the greater part of last year there was only one geologist doing duty, and it was found impossible to undertake any detailed survey work except on a few mining properties. It was deployed in mining circles that most of the hundreds of mines in Malaya had to operate without the periodic visit that should have been made.

In addition to the staff appointments a technical assistant has been recently appointed to function as draftsman and additional clerk. In addition to this two rock-collectors have also been appointed. These collectors are making plans of mines selected as presenting features of geological interest.

It is understood that Mr. E. S. Wilbourn, Director of Geological Surveys, F.M.S., will be going on a month's tour of inspection within the next few days.

EUROPEAN PEACE CONSOLIDATION

NEW WESTERN PACT TO REPLACE LOCARNO

Hopes Still Held

Geneva, May 28. The Franco-British declaration in regard to Belgium was discussed at the League Council this evening. Mr. Anthony Eden and M. Delbos pointed out that they had not lost hope that a new Western Pact would be concluded to replace the machinery of the Locarno Treaty.

Mr. Eden said that he hoped the negotiations with Belgium so happily concluded would lead to further negotiations and closer collaboration of all interested countries.

M. Delbos said that France would continue her efforts towards attaining the consolidation of the general peace of Europe by means of a wider European understanding. M. Spaak, Belgian Foreign Minister, reiterated Belgium's determination to defend her territory and prevent its use for operations against any other State.

LOCARNO TREATY DISCUSSED

Belgium Released From Obligations

Geneva, May 27. The Locarno Treaty was the main topic at the League of Nations Council discussions to-day, when M. Delbos, French Foreign Minister, read aloud the already published declaration by France and Britain that Belgium is released from her obligations from this treaty. M. Delbos stated that this changed nothing in the Franco-Belgian friendship, and that France would continue to do everything in her power to arrange a new Locarno. Never for one moment, so M. Delbos continued, would France forget that West European security and general European peace were inter-dependent.

Mr. Eden, British Foreign Secretary, was the next speaker. He stated that it was hoped that this agreement between France and Britain on one side and Belgium on the other would be the first step to an agreement on a broader basis between all interested powers.

Mr. Spaak, the Belgian Foreign Minister, then emphasised his country's determination to defend her own frontiers. Spaak reiterated the hope that this agreement might prove the first step only to greater and broader agreements.

LLEWELLYN FORCED DOWN

Capetown, May 27. Flight-Lieutenant Llewellyn, who was attempting to break the record for the flight from England to Capetown, failed to-day. He made a forced landing near Port Elizabeth. He was well off his course, owing to compass trouble experienced after leaving Johannesburg.

Miss Army Johnson's record still stands.

SCOTTISH OFFICE APPOINTMENT

Permanent Under-Secretary

The Prime Minister has appointed Sir Horace Perkins Hamilton, K.C.B., who has been Permanent Secretary to the Board of Trade since 1927, to be Permanent Under-Secretary at the Scottish Office in succession to the late Sir John Highton.

The selection of a Civil servant of such exceptional administrative experience and status to the Scottish Office is of great significance to Scotland generally. It comes on the eve of a probable reorganisation of the whole system of Scottish administration and the transfer to Edinburgh of a vast amount of the work hitherto done in Whitehall.

THE STATE BANQUET

The friendliness of the King and Queen, and the charm of Queen Mary, delighted the Coronation delegates who attended the State banquet at Buckingham Palace.

The King and Queen shook hands with every one of their 450 guests.

The banquet delayed the arrival of several members of the Royal Family and of the Coronation delegates at the Speaker's Coronation reception at Westminster, which was attended by 2500 guests.

—far more, it is feared, than the Mother of Parliaments could embrace with comfort.

CONTROL KEEPS PASSIVE

No Bidding Up Gold Price

London, May 28. "The ways of the Exchange Equalisation Fund are inscrutable," stated a morning paper, a judgment with which the city after the gold fixing wholeheartedly agrees. At the fixing there were 267 bars valued at £750,000 of which brokers who usually act for the authorities bought 230, the price being 2½ pence under American parity. Control recently has been bidding up the price of gold and the city is wondering why they suddenly decided to change tactics and buy as cheaply as possible. It is possible that the brokers bought for private clients, but the consensus of opinion inclines to the belief that the bulk of the metal was taken on behalf of the authorities as the American banks in London would not have bought such an amount without consulting New York.

The offerings are reported to consist of dishearded gold.

KING'S COMMISSION TO CHAMBERLAIN

London, May 28. Mr. Stanley Baldwin left Downing Street at 9.12 a.m. B.S.T. for the Palace to submit his resignation to the King.

Mr. Neville Chamberlain arrived at the Palace at 10.10 a.m. and was received by His Majesty who formally asked him to form a Government. Mr. Chamberlain agreed and kissed the King's hands on his appointment.

EARLDOM REFUSED

London, May 27. When the Lord President of the Council, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, visited the King at Buckingham Palace he did not hand over his seal of office.

Mr. MacDonald's visit was more in the nature of a farewell audience with His Majesty.

It is understood that the ex-Premier, who, in view of his services to the State, had been pressed to accept a high hereditary honour, begged permission to be allowed to decline, and the King reluctantly agreed.

The honour offered Mr. MacDonald is understood to have been an Earldom.

HOME CRICKET RESULTS

London, May 28. The following are the results of Home cricket matches concluded to-day:

Essex won by 322 runs in their match against Kent at Gravesend. Essex 370 (Eastman 80) and 253 for 9 declared (Woolley 5 for 59). Kent 127 and 174.

At Ickleton, Derby beat Somerset by 7 wickets. Somerset 92 (Mitchell 6 for 34) and 104. Derby 87 (Andrews 5 for 28) and 118 for 3.

GOLD FOUND IN CHINA

Shanghai, May 28.

A gold field has been discovered near the Shenai-Szechuen border covering an area of one hundred square miles according to a telegram to Sian by the examining experts who made the find.

Another despatch is being sent to confirm the discovery.

So far there has been no gold rush.

ASTOR ESTATE TAX LEVY DISPUTE

New York, May 28. The Federal Court gave a verdict against Viscount Astor and Major John Astor in their claim from the Government for over two million dollars estate tax levied on the New York property of the first Viscount Astor, together with nearly two million dollars interest.

This is the third round of an eighteen-year fight. An appeal will be lodged.

—far more, it is feared, than the Mother of Parliaments could embrace with comfort.

GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE

Officially Opened

San Francisco, May 27. The Golden Gate Bridge over the entrance to San Francisco harbour, said to be the largest suspension bridge in the world, was opened to the public to-day.

It has taken five years to build and cost $35,000,000 (£7,000,000), and has an over-water span of 4,200 feet.

NAZI FLAG INCIDENT

Washington, May 27. The German Embassy announced to-day that Mayor Rossi of San Francisco had apologised to the local German Consul after an official protest had been lodged following the tearing down of the Nazi flag from street decorations erected for the celebration of the Golden Gate bridge.

WANTED TO SEE MOTHER

Convict Escaped From Devil's Island

A convict who escaped from Devil's Island, the penal settlement in French Guiana, has now been in France—because he wanted to see his mother.

Charles Hut was sentenced in 1920 for aggravated cases of theft. After 16 years on Devil's Island he escaped last September from St. Laurent de Maroni with five companions in a tiny boat, and all the men succeeded in reaching Trinidad alive.

There Hut stowed away in the ship Cordillera. He was discovered, however, and a court gave sentence in favour of his repatriation back to France. Hut declared that he wanted nothing better, for his one idea was to see his 82-year-old mother.

He is now in prison at Cherbourg, where he has put in an application for clemency.

POPULARITY OF THE CORONATION STAMPS

The Coronation stamps were issued to all post offices to-day, and the Post Office thinks that their sale during the day are likely to break the existing record for a first day's sale—that of 37,000,000 held by the George V Jubilee stamps, states the "Manchester Guardian" of May 14. Queues waited outside the G.P.O. this morning. Some West End revellers, staying up till the dawn, were the first to get these stamps from branch offices which had remained open all night.

The dealers have had unprecedented advance orders for both Coronation and the ordinary issues. The American airman Mr. Merrill may incidentally take 10,000 with him on his return flight to the United States. The particular reason for the hurry to send off the stamps is that so many collectors want them on "first-day covers."

On envelopes, that is, posted on the first day of issue. The example is quoted of a Victorian "penny black" posted on a Mulready envelope on the first day of issue. This is unique and is worth £50. With later postmarks the value would only be £1.

The dealers approve generally of the new stamps' designs. They criticise—on the ordinary issues—the way the circle containing the money value cuts into the King's neck, and they still regret—vainly, they own—the replacing of line-engraving by the cheaper process of photogravure. Otherwise they agree that the Coronation stamps improve on those for the Jubilee and that the ordinary issues are this country's best stamp for a long time.

Sultan Of Johore At London Cenotaph

With hundreds of Coronation visitors watching from each side of Whitehall, the Sultan of Johore laid a wreath on the Cenotaph.

Shortly before 11 a.m. the crowds saw a big car drive up. Out of it stepped the Sultan, a tall, bespectacled man in khaki uniform. Representatives of the Colonial Office were among those present. Men in ceremony took place. After standing for attention for a few moments, the Sultan returned to his car and was driven away.

BAER'S WIN OVER FOORD

Referee "Stops The Slaughter"

Harringay May 27.

Max Baer, California heavyweight, gained a technical knockout decision over Ben Foord, the South African, in the ninth round of a twelve round contest here to-night. Baer had the fight pretty well his own way.

There was a sensational finish, of the neck-or-nothing variety. The fighters went out for a knock-out at any cost.

The fight showed a total lack of science, but there was compensation in the crowded thrills.

Baer's clowning tactics unsettled Foord who did not box his normal fight. For the greater part of the engagement he stood up as a target for Baer's stinging blows.

The South African was floored for a count of eight in the second round and saved by the bell. Before the end of the ninth he was groggy several times, but in that round he won three times. Each time he was beaten to the canvas by a murderous barrage of lefts and rights.

As he left the ring Baer remarked: "I can see better from two eyes than one." He was referring to his fight with Tommy Farr, the Welshman, which he lost by a wide margin. Farr damaged one of Baer's eyes badly on that occasion.

Baer certainly showed he had a punch to-night.

It was not until some time after the fight had finished that it was announced that the referee had stopped the slaughter.

U.S. BASEBALL RESULTS

New York, May 27. New York came to practically even terms with Pittsburgh at the top of the National League to-day by defeating Cincinnati four to two. Ott's home run clinched the issue.

Boston beat St. Louis eight to seven, with 12 hits to 11, though Gutteridge and Padgett hit circuit drives for the Cardinals. Each team had an error.

Philadelphia hit 14 and scored 11 runs, Camilli driving out a homer. Chicago scored only twice on nine hits.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Detroit defeated the American League leaders, New York, when they resisted the invasion of the Yankees successfully to-day. But it took them thirteen innings and home runs from Fox and Greenberg to accomplish it. The score was five to four.

It was a tough game, but Detroit deserved it. The Tigers out-hit the Yank's 15 to 10, and had only one of the three errors of the game. Gehrig homered for the visitors.

Chicago was nosed out by Cleveland, one to two.

Cleveland, second berth team, won by the odd run from Philadelphia. Nine hits were enough, with homers by Solters and Hale to

Inskip's Committee To Meet For First Time

London, May 27. The first meeting of Sir Thomas Inskip's munitions committee of the Imperial Conference will be held at 9.30 a.m. to-morrow.

While it is thought that all the Dominions have agreed on the principle of co-ordination of defence, they have made it quite clear that they will not enter upon any commitments. The munitions committee meetings under the Minister of Co-ordination of Defence are not likely to produce any sensational developments.

With regard to trade matters, the statement of the Secretary of the Board of Trade, Mr. Walter Runciman, had a mollifying effect on a situation which at one time threatened to become a little acute in view of the demands of some Dominions for a greater share of the British market.

INSTABILITY OF TRADE

It is understood the South African delegation brought the question of the gold situation before the conference. The instability of trade, caused by managed currency, is said to have been stressed.

No official confirmation was forthcoming but it is believed the gold question will be referred to the economic committee of the conference and thoroughly examined by the experts.

CHANGE

On this day when, by reason of the Honours List, so many names are changing, Mrs. Ernest Simpson is in the news, for she has changed hers by deed-poll, states the "Evening Standard" of May 11.

The public will find difficulty in remembering that a personality who has become so well known as Mrs. Simpson should now be called Mr. Walls Warfield.

Until that day, less than a month ahead, when she becomes Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Windsor, it is inevitable that she should remain in the minds of the public just Mrs. Simpson.

ECONOMIC QUESTION

London, May 27. Two Imperial Conference Communiqués were issued this afternoon.

One announces that the committee on economic questions held its second meeting and approved the report to the conference respecting an Imperial Economic Committee and had considered other possibilities of inter-Imperial economic collaboration.

NO DECISION YET

The second communiqué dealt with the third meeting of the shipping committee, held in the Board of Trade Building, under the chairmanship of the New Zealand Finance Minister, Mr. Nash. Here again the committee discussed the question of United States' steamers competing with British vessels on the Tasmania-Australia run, and British liner communications across Pacific. The meeting adjourned until Monday.

It is understood only Canada, Australia, New Zealand and the United Kingdom were represented at this afternoon's meeting. Most of the time was spent in the examination of operational costs of trans-Pacific shipping. No decision has yet been reached about assisting British merchantmen against foreign subsidised ships.

FORMER DETECTIVE'S THEFTS FROM CARS

Butler to a prince, Butler to a former Governor of the Bank of England, a Grenadier Guardsman, City of London detective sergeant, afterwards forming his own detective agency.

This was the career of John William Josiah Snell, aged 47, son of a former Metropolitan Police Inspector, as described by a detective at Bedford Police Court when Snell was sent to prison for six months for thefts from unattended cars.

The detective added that Snell had recently been making a living by gardening and boot repairing.

DEATH OF MAJOR BOYD-CARPENTER

London, May 28. Major Sir Archibald Boyd-Carpenter, Government member for the Chertsey Division of Surrey, formerly of the Highland Light Infantry, and for many years associated with politics, has passed away.

Fourth son of the Bishop of Ripon and Canon of Westminster, by his first wife, Sir Archibald served in the South African war, where he was mentioned in despatches and won the Queen's Medal with three clasps and the King's Medal with two. From 1914 to 1919 he served with distinction, again winning mention in despatches.

Meanwhile, from 1909-10 he had been Mayor of Harrogate. From 1919-23 he was Union member for North Bradford, and from 1924-29 was member for Coventry, serving as Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Labour, Financial Secretary to the Treasury, and in other posts of importance.

OIL STRIKE IN MEXICO

Mexico City, May 27. A general strike, which will paralyse the entire petroleum industry in Mexico, has been proclaimed, to come into effect at midnight after the failure of six months' negotiations between owners and workers, mainly over questions of collective bargaining and an increase of upwards of 50 per cent. in wages.

The President and Ministry of Labour are attempting a solution of the problems, which are the gravest in the history of the Mexican oilfields.

One of the objects of the negotiations has been to get a collective labour contract, and to place it in the statute books, for the purpose of terminating the series of claims by Labour against foreign oil interests.

Approximately half the foreign investments in this $200,000,000 industry are British.

SAND STORM'S HEAVY TOLL

Mexico City, May 27. A ghastly fate has overtaken some 500 townspeople of a Mexican mining community.

It is reported that they perished when the town of Tlalpujahua, Mexico State, was flooded by an enormous sand deposit, used for washing metals, which overflowed like a lake of lava, burying scores of houses below and all their sleeping occupants.

The sand swept over the town with scarcely a sound just before daybreak.

It is reported that no house is intact and that scarcely a soul survived.

The sand deposit belonged to the French-owned Dos Estrellas Mine.

In Lord's Pavilion

Unanimously and very impressively (for changes are not lightly made at Lord's) the members of the M.C.C. gave their fiat to an alteration in the laws of cricket. The new leg-before-wicket rule was a trial, but not an error. It was an experiment. It is now a law. In the hush that followed the president's statement one voice alone, that of Mr. F. G. J. Ford, was heard protesting—that there was not change enough. The new law, applying only to balls pitching on the off, should in this view have applied also to balls pitching on the leg. With deep fervour he called to witness a declaration, made by the M.C.C. itself about the year 1887 on "the spirit of the game"—a fifty-year-old argument which might well have swayed the meeting.

But there was no division: Mr. Ford moved no amendment, did not vote against the motion. What he did was to quote Lincoln—"Nothing is ever settled until it is settled right"—and urge that before long a further change be made. Even the bust of the great Doctor seemed to frown a little. One had the impression that further changes, or even experiments, were unlikely yet, while

CHAMPIONSHIP
FINALSSta. Lizana Wins
In Two SetsAUSTIN'S EASY
VICTORY

H. W. Austin and Senorita A. Lizana won the British hard court singles championships before a packed Centre Court at the West Hants Club in Bournemouth recently. The fighters of the week, H. G. N. Lee and Miss M. C. Scriven could do little to break up the rhythm of such dominating strokes, although in Miss Scriven's case there might have been another story had she made the most of a commanding lead in the first set.

Thus Austin, playing in his third successive final, regained a championship that he won as long ago as 1929 before F. J. Perry arose as the master of his generation to win it five times running. Moreover, Austin has not lost a set to anyone, and in finishing off Lee in a love set beat another past holder whose tactics and flashing forehand had dumbfounded C. E. Hare, whose place in the draw made him second favourite for the final.

The last match, played in brilliant sunshine, was not one to make us forget the shades of Perry for Lee never really went after Austin as C. R. D. Tuckey had done, until he missed a "sitter" at set point in what must rank as the best single of a rather formal tournament. Austin, with his flawless length of drive, directed to the extremities of the court, was content to remain quietly the master without pressing unduly for his points.

Sometimes, as Lee was forged to stretch for his shots and return them shorter and shorter and shorter, Austin worked himself into a volleying position, but he usually left the despairing attempts at the volleys to Lee, so that he might pass him the more easily. Lee's fighting forehand, often used by dodging his backhand, was worth more than the four games he won, but Austin more than ever looked the first player of the country and knew how to use all the strokes and the lines.

DETERMINATION AND A PLAN

Miss Scriven, with two close defeats by Sta. Lizana behind her, came to the women's singles final with grim determination and a plan that might have brought her the match had she not broken down. That was when she led by five games to three and, having lost the next game, made a succession of unhappily wild strokes that put Sta. Lizana into the lead without losing a point. Until then, Sta. Lizana had been none too confident against the ever-changing handled it firmly. At first Miss Scriven was using until she found the right moment to flash out her forehand winner or slow the ball away by neat volleys.

Sta. Lizana's greatest stroke, apart from the supreme steadiness of her back court game, is the dropshot, which either wins outright or makes a huge gap for the passing drive. At first Miss Scriven handled it firmly. At first Miss Scriven handled it firmly, and came on to volley the return; but having lost that critical first set, she was an easier prey to it, and naturally could not maintain those desperate scrambles up court. The initiative passed to Sta. Lizana, who surely drew away to a lead of five games to two in the second set before Miss Scriven made her last stand. Sta. Lizana had the pace and direction of drive, the gay defence and subtle wits to make her a worthy champion.

COLOUR AND EXCITEMENT

Most of the colour and excitement of the week were crowded into a two-hour struggle for the doubles in which C. E. Hare and F. H. D. Wilde beat G. P. Hughes and C. R. D. Tuckey holders, by three sets to one. It was last year's Wimbledon final all over again with this added significance, that Hare and Wilde are now members of the Davis Cup "Five," presumably for the strength of their doubles play which they proved almost conclusively by this win.

One writes "almost" because, before Hughes and Tuckey properly found their feet, Hare and Wilde had the match in their grasp. Having seen a lead of five games to three vanish, they rallied again, and at 7-6 Hare served and reached 40-love. If ever he should have crashed down his service as he had been doing it was then. Instead he served softly, and chiefly through the skilful placing by

GRUELLING TENNIS
ENCOUNTERMatch Goes To 70
Games!

Paris, May 27.
One of the longest and most bitterly-contested matches in the history of first-class tournament tennis was played at the Stade Roland Garros to-day, when Bernard Destremau, promising young French player, beat Charles E. Hare of England in the quarter-finals of the French championship.

The match ran to 70 games before Destremau won at 11-9, 4-6, 7-9, 7-5, 7-5.

Hare recovered brilliantly to win the second second and third sets after losing the first which extended to 20 games, but the Frenchman showed an even greater fighting spirit in the last two sets and delighted his many admirers by pulling the game out of the fire.

H.W. Austin, England's No. 1 player, played perfect tennis to reach the semi-final at the expense of Y. Petra (France). Austin won 6-4, 6-2, 6-1.

LIGHT BLUES
COLLAPSE

London, May 27.
The New Zealanders made short work of Cambridge University in a cricket match which started on Wednesday and finished to-day, one day ahead of the allotted time.

Cambridge twice collapsed at the wicket, being dismissed for 102 and 128. In their first innings Dunning captured six wickets for 42 runs, and in the second, Moloney was prominent, taking 5 for 23.

The New Zealanders did not find run-getting very easy and were first sent back for 135, Fraser taking 5 for 81, but they hit off the required 30 runs with the loss of two wickets, thus winning by eight wickets.

CIVIL LIST BILL
Labourites Move Amendment

London, May 27.

Moving of the second reading to-day in the House of Commons of the Civil List Bill, which makes additional provision for members of the Royal Family, evoked an amendment by the Labour Party.

Mr. Arthur Greenwood, moved the rejection of the Bill on the grounds that "this House cannot assent to a Civil List Bill which merely accepts and continues the traditional conceptions of state and ceremonial, instead of recognizing that greater simplicity in the daily life of the Court is essential in a modern democratic constitution such as the British Commonwealth."

Mr. Greenwood went on to say that the Labour Party was not concerned with the question of Republicanism or Monarchy, or even a matter of economy, but was appealing for a simpler form of monarchy in England.

The Civil List Bill received its second reading after Mr. Greenwood's amendment had been defeated by 240 votes to 112.

GRADUAL SIMPLIFICATION

Mr. Neville Chamberlain, replying to the debate, said he had received no representation desiring a great simplification of the monarchical system, and he knew of no evidence to show that such a feeling existed in the Dominions.

"I don't think it would be right for us to ascribe opinions to the Dominions one way or the other," observed Mr. Chamberlain, and then expressed the belief that the whole trend to-day, not only in the monarchy, but elsewhere, was towards a greater simplification in manners and the breaking down of former barriers.

Mr. Chamberlain pointed out that the occasions on which their Majesties could enjoy personal contact with their subjects were far more numerous and informal to-day than ever before. He would prefer to leave to His Majesty's own inclination to bring about gradual simplification, rather than to hasten it.

HONG KONG ON THE SCREEN

Film Traveller's Impressions

Hongkongites will soon have the opportunity of seeing an authentic film of the Colony, taken by the man who produces "The Screen Traveller Pictures" (from New York).

The film will compose of comprehensive pictures of Hong Kong—its contour, situation and beauty spots—as a city where people of all nationalities live, where Europeans intermingle with Chinese in perfect harmony under the protection and administration of the British Government.

The screen traveller is greatly impressed with the loveliness of the pine trees, the fragrance of which reminds him of the French Riviera. He shot some magnificent and panoramic scenes of the city, both of its natural beauty in the day and by night.

He is by no means trying to glorify Hong Kong through expression by films. He is going to show the world the bright and cheerful outlook of the inhabitants of the city, the gay life at the race-track and bathing beaches, the most up-to-date hotels and public buildings, the incomparable beauty of its natural harbour and the panoramic scenery of the Peak.

HELPFUL OFFICIALS

"It is always a pleasure to make films in British Colonies," said the screen traveller, "the reason being that the officials are always helpful and co-operative."

When the film is complete he hopes to release it through United Artists to give Hong Kong its first screening before he screens it at Radio City Music Hall in New York. He hopes to take some films of Canton before returning to New York.

FLOOD DAMAGE AT HAI FENG

Swatow, May 28.

Extensive damage and loss of lives occurred at Hai Feng owing to a heavy rain and lightning storm last week. The town was under seven feet of water, and many houses were carried away by the sweeping torrents.

Over one hundred persons were drowned. The surrounding vicinity was inundated up to May 25. Fortunately the East River was able to drain away the flood water, but the current is running rapidly.

The Kwangtung Provincial Government is petitioned to send relief to the flood victims.
